

October 2011

Disabilities Awareness Month

Profit by Investing in Worker's with Disabilities

Danny Glover-
African American actor & producer who has worked on several films and television shows, received Emmy nominations & is a United Nations Development Program goodwill ambassador with dyslexia.

Kathleen Martinez-
Assistant Secretary of Labor, member of the GBLT and Hispanic communities in addition to being blind since birth. She worked to increase employment opportunities and reduce poverty.

Mitch Longley-
Native American, actor, paraplegic, founder of non-profit organization for underprivileged Native Americans with physical disabilities, and model who has received numerous honors for his work.

Daniel Inouye-
Amputee and one of the longest serving US Senators and highest ranking Japanese American politicians in history. He earned a Medal of Honor for his Army service in addition to other awards for his achievements as a Senator.

“Return on investment means hiring the right talent”- Martinez