NRCS AREA III EMPLOYEES PARTICIPATE IN USDA DAY OF SERVICE

NRCS employees from Area III participated in two service projects during the USDA National Day of Service, January 12, honoring the life of Civil Rights Leader Dr. Martin Luther King.

The first service project was at the Carbon County Food Bank, where they unloaded pallets of food, sorted and shelved donated food items and assisted other employees in the preparation of food orders. NRCS participants shown in accompanying photo with other volunteers are Daniel Meyer, Terron Pickett, Jeff Fenton, Matt Norfleet, Joe Buford and Jay Howard. They each spent two hours for a total of 12 hours of donated service.

Another service project involved judging at a local junior high school science fair. NRCS staffers Leland Sasser, Joe Dyer and Dean Stacy judged 22 science projects in different science categories. Admin Assistant Gayla Pressett assisted in the preparation of the judging materials and final tabulations. A total of 4.5 hours were donated at this activity. All of the involved employees were happy for the opportunity to provide service to their local community, and to remember the legacy of service provided by Dr. King.
