CASTLELAND RC&D RECEIVES NATIONAL RANKING

The National Association of Resource Conservation & Development Councils recently announced that the Castleland Resource Conservation & Development Council has been awarded membership in the National Circle of Diamonds Program. This unique recognition shows the councils ability to reach and attain specific benchmarks set forth in the program guidelines. The mark of excellence shows the honesty, integrity and strong commitment of the council to the RC&D mission.

The Castleland RC&D Council, with assistance from RC&D Coordinator Wayne Urie, has carried out an annual plan of work that has improved the quality of life within its local area. For example, they were recently awarded a mini-grant to assist with the Navajo Mountain/Piute Mesa Rainwater Collection System that will help reduce the need for hauling water to local residences. Congratulations to all who have been involved with this successful council.
