

FORESTRY EDUCATION (OK-ECS-007)

Overview

This course will provide ideas to participants on how to teach forestry practices to the public in an outdoor classroom type setting.

Objectives

Upon completion of this training, participants will be able to:

1. Explain why forestry management practices are needed.
2. Demonstrate how forestry tools are used to help gather information from a landuser so he/she can make good decisions on managing their stand of trees.
3. Demonstrate how to teach children how a tree grows, its parts, and how trees can be used to benefit people and the environment.

Prerequisites

none

Duration

1 day