Work

With the mission of "Helping People Help the Land," the USDA's Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) provides products and services that enable people to be good stewards of the nation's soil, water, air, and related natural resources on private lands. With our help, people are better able to conserve, maintain, or improve their natural resources.

Pennsylvania's well-trained employees work in nearly every county throughout the Commonwealth in positions such as:

- Soil Conservationists
- Soil Scientists
- Agronomists
- Biologists
- Engineers
- Technicians
- Administrative Assistants
- Managers

NRCS employees assist with conservation planning, wetland restoration, wildlife habitat enhancement, nutrient and animal waste management, watershed planning, stream bank stabilization, erosion and sediment control, and many other conservation practices.

Our employees gain expertise in a wide range of conservation activities, such as pollinator habitat, organic and specialty crops, horse pastures, and feed management, among others. By helping people help the land, NRCS employees are giving back to their communities by aiding in the improvement of agricultural and land use practices.
