

Acknowledgments

---

Machines printed this document, but people translated their collective knowledge and experience into the printed word. The following agencies, people, and affiliates cooperated and worked together to produce the interagency document, "Stream Corridor Restoration: Principles, Processes, and Practices." Numerous other people also worked in support or consultative roles within and outside of the agencies, and their contribution is acknowledged and very much appreciated.

Federal Agencies

The following federal agencies collaborated to produce this document:

U.S. Department of Agriculture

- Agricultural Research Service
- Cooperative State Research, Education, and Extension Service
- Forest Service
- Natural Resources Conservation Service

U.S. Environmental Protection Agency

Tennessee Valley Authority

Federal Emergency Management Agency

U.S. Department of Commerce

- National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration
  - National Marine Fisheries Service

U.S. Department of Defense

- Army Corps of Engineers

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development

U.S. Department of the Interior

- Bureau of Land Management
- Bureau of Reclamation
- Fish and Wildlife Service
- National Park Service
- U.S. Geological Survey

These federal agencies produced this document with their resources and human talent, forming and supporting a Production Team, a Communications Team, and a Steering Team.

Production Team

The Production Team developed much of the material for this document. Some individuals on this team led the development of individual chapters and wrote specific parts of the document. Contributing authors include recognized experts from universities and consulting firms.

Steering Team

The Steering Team organized, led, and coordinated the production of this document. Steering Team members not only represented the interests of their agencies but also served as contact pivots for information to and from their agencies and also wrote parts of the document. The Steering Team also secured nonfederal peer review of this document and facilitated the signing of the Memorandum of Understanding.
