

New and Featured Items at NRCS Distribution Center

American Indian Heritage Month Poster 2011- The 2011 NRCS American Indian Heritage title for the poster is " Conservation: Preservation of Land for Future Generations". This year's artist is Carrie Silverhorn of Miami, Oklahoma.

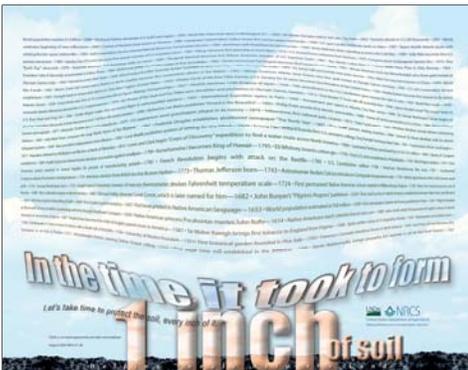

Be a friend to Pollinators Brochure-This colorful brochure explains the different types of pollinators and some fun facts about them. The publication folds into a 2 3/4 by 3 1/2 inch pocket size brochure. (2010)

Conservation Benefits of Rangeland Practices: Assessment, Recommendations, and Knowledge Gaps-Executive Summary.

Restricted to 10 copies for non-NRCS employees. Conservation Benefits of Rangeland Practices: Assessment, Recommendations, and Knowledge Gaps Executive Summary. This 12 page booklet on Conservation Effects Assessment Project (CEAP) summarizes findings from the scientific literature on common NRCS-recommended rangeland management practices, and recommends practice and programmatic enhancements. (2011)

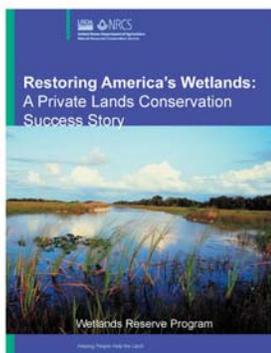

Inch of Soil Poster

Readers are taken through 500 years of historical events to illustrate the amount of time it can take to form one inch of new life giving soil. Size: 34 by 25 inches. (2006)

Native Bees-Pollinators 2011 Poster

This poster is restricted to 10 copies for Non-NRCS employees. This is a colorful poster depicting 18 different varieties of North American bees. (2011)

Restoring America's Wetlands

Available as downloadable pdf only! "Restoring America's Wetlands: A Private Lands Conservation Success Story" commemorates 20 years of the Wetlands Reserve Program featuring statistics, landowner quotes, success stories and scenic photos of NRCS wetlands work from across the country. (2011)