Field demos help set show apart
At Second Annual Texas AgXchange, a “Working Farm & Ranch Show”

The second annual Texas AgXchange, an outdoor Farm and Ranch Show, will take place October 2 & 3, 2013 at the RMB Fairgrounds in Robstown, TX. One of the key components to this event is the field demos which take place at the show site both Wednesday and Thursday.

“Last year’s field demos were a great success” said show organizer Greg Geisler. Geisler went on; “It was clear that working field demonstrations were what Farmers and Ranchers wanted to see at the Texas AgXchange, an outdoor farm and ranch show. Farmers made it clear that one area where they had a keen interest was seeing vertical tillage in action. They also wanted to see the newest technology in equipment including planters and drills, and keyed in on precision agriculture innovations”.

The tillage demonstrations were very popular as were the ride and drive activities. Company reps will be available to answer any questions during the field demos.

To learn more about the specific times and other details visit www.texasagxchange.com or call 952-736-9360 for more information.

Admission to the show, the field demos as well as parking is FREE.
